

COUNTRY IS NOT AFRAID TO FIGHT

President Assails Men Who Use Peace and War For Partisan Advantage.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Pres't Wilson declared in his night speech here that the United States is not afraid to fight and is not disinclined to fight for the objects for which it was founded. He opposed sectionalism and said the destinies of peace and war should not be used for partisan advantage.

During the late afternoon ride Pres't Wilson laid a wreath on the monument of former Pres't McKinley.

The political demonstration was staged Wednesday night during the president's ride from his hotel to the hall. In an automobile he proceeded along streets lighted by flaring red lights. A band played martial music. The sidewalks were lined with people. The hall was packed.

As the president entered the hall the people stood, waved American flags and cheered.

"I want to discuss some of the permanent interests of the nation," began the president. "While we talk of the things of today we must think of the things of tomorrow and the day after tomorrow."

Friend of Workmen.
"It is remarkable how grateful the skilled workers of this country are when you do them mere justice," the president said. "I am ashamed when I do them mere justice to have them come and thank me. Political parties are very much interested in the workmen when election comes around, because they know they are in the majority. I want to help them after the election. I want to have the federal treasury help them to get vocational education."

"One of the things I want to take part in is the rectification of the processes of our courts. The processes are too complex. The trouble is not with the judges and the lawyers. Most of them, not all of them, want to do justice. But it is necessary to go through a mass of procedure."

"We have heard a good deal recently about the eight hour day. One of the things that interests me about it is not merely that it means justice but that it means health and happiness. I am in favor of it just as far as it can be made to work. It increases the physical vitality of workers."

"After it is done everybody will have profited. The men who oppose it do not know what makes the heart work. They only know what makes the spleen work."

"I am impatient that the talk which has got to last until next Tuesday should be over."

Not Rational Since June.
"Some of the men now most vocal in criticizing the things done in the last three and a half years were formerly the men who helped to do those things. They have not been rational since last June."

"We are not going to be drawn into quarrels which mean nothing to us. We are not interested in seeing one nation or group of nations prevail against another."

"We are not afraid to fight and we are not disinclined to fight for the things that America stands for."

"We are waiting for the call we have always waited for. We have fought for humanity. God forbid that we should ever fight for self satisfaction or for aggression."

Pres't Wilson left at 10:30 o'clock for New York.

Urges Non-Partisanship.
In his afternoon speech here, Pres't Wilson said in part:

"It is exceedingly important that this country should discuss its affairs with as little partisanship of feeling as possible, because its affairs were never so critically set about, if I may so express it, as they are at this moment. America has, so to say, given promises to the world that she will look at things without the passion that has determined the affairs of other nations."

"I want you to let me, if you will, give you in a few sentences my idea of the kind of questions we have got to settle in the country. There are a great many social questions now with which legislation has to deal, very profound and radical questions. There are questions even of moral health."

Law Too Heartless.
"One of the things that America is beginning to perceive is that a court of law, for example, is not necessarily a court of justice. What I mean is this: Law too seldom has any heart in it, too seldom has any bowels of compassion, too seldom has any quick sympathies of perception."

"Let me make an allusion which may seem like a political allusion, but it is not so intended. The reason that the progressive party was founded four years ago, was that the large body of men who formed that party made up their minds that the party they were separating themselves from had not thought out the questions of social justice. Is that not so? The program of that new party, aside from the items that you would expect in all programs, was a program of social justice, and look what happened. More than four million men joined its ranks at the polls. There are things that we ought to see to that we have not been seeing to—the health, the moral opportunity, the just treatment, the neighborly relationships of men of all sorts, and classes and conditions. I tell you, my fellow citizens, until a political party or any other group of men get that thought at their hearts, they are unfit for the national confidence."

Must Organize Relationships.
"Now, we have got to organize these relationships between classes. We have got to organize also the relationship between the private initiative and governmental action. Take a matter such as the development of our merchant marine."

"I am just as anxious as anybody can be that private capital should be given the freest opportunity to develop the carrying load under the flag of the United States, and I advocated for one the shipping bill, which has been law only because after we had waited indefinitely for private enterprise to undertake the thing, it had not undertaken it, and it could not wait; it had to be undertaken."

"There is another set of questions we have got to face—all the relations of this country to the rest of the world. Out of a heterogeneous nation we have to make a unit in which no slightest line of division is visible beyond our borders. Variety of opinion among ourselves, there may be, discussion, free counsel as to what we ought to do, but so far as every other nation is concerned, we must be absolutely a unit."

Raps Unpatriotic Acts.

"And I want to register my solemn protest here against the use of our foreign relationships for political advantage. I cannot, I will not, regard any man as a patriot who does that—men who in the midst of the most critical relationships, the detail of which they do not know, make play with the loss of the lives of American citizens even in order that they may create a domestic political advantage."

"So I would mean to intimate that the wisdom and discretion of Buffalo is not contained in any other room in Buffalo, I venture to say. Moreover, it is not contained in Buffalo, because Buffalo is part of the United States, and nowhere in the United States can it be located, we all belong to a great indivisible team and we are effective in proportion as we play with the team and ineffective as we play against the team. It is this lesson of cooperation to which I am always returning and when the talk is over we will get down to business."

HAVANA, Nov. 2.—Returns received up to midnight by the central electoral board, indicated the election of Alfredo Zayas as president of Cuba. ## FIVE REQUISITES OF SUCCESS

The best of authorities agree that five things are necessary for a business or social success. To be successful a person of the twentieth century must have health, ambition, knowledge, ability, and stick-to-it-iveness but the most important of all is HEALTH.

Without health, success is impossible. If your stomach and nerves are not in condition, it is impossible for you to properly do your work or to feel like yourself.

If you wake in the morning without feeling refreshed, if you have a bad taste, are bilious, nerves are shattered and you are in a general run down condition, you need Vitalis.

Vitalis is the one great tonic, the tonic which has done so much for the people of the United States.

Vitalis restores to you your lost ambition, removes the cause of indigestion, sleeplessness, dyspepsia and the thousand and one nervous troubles.

Hundreds of local people are daily testifying to the wonders of this remarkable medicine. It will make you feel better, eat better and sleep better. Vitalis is an old doctor's prescription and has helped hundreds from their difficulties.

Vitalis is being especially introduced and explained at the Landon Drug Company, Michigan and Wayne streets. —Advt.

Good Bread Quickly Made at Home

Women everywhere are evincing much interest in the wonderful properties of ceromalt, the recent discovery that shortens the time required for baking so that bread can be set in the morning and be out of the oven by noon.

The use of ceromalt for baking is being taught in schools of domestic science in many cities. Ceromalt is a pure and wholesome food product and when a little is added to the yeast it causes the sponge to rise quickly, even if chilled. It makes more and better bread of delicious flavor and fine texture that will keep longer than ordinary bread. It is said that when ceromalt is used the same quantity of flour that makes nine loaves of bread will make ten loaves.

The price of ceromalt is so small that it actually saves in flour many times its cost. Local grocers sell ceromalt for ten cents a package, enough for making sixty loaves of bread. On every package there appears the easy-to-follow directions for using.—Advt.
